

Spread #2:

Smart People, Smart Systems, Smart Objects ...That's Brilliant, by Design

Brilliance is what you demand of us.

At Reed Construction Data, we listen – to your building data needs, your current concerns, and your service requirements.

Our clients and customers often express relief that we're here for them, reflected in just some of their feedback:

“Reed Construction Data just seems geared to respond. From our first interaction they were on top of their field and ready with solutions that fit our needs.” (James Jameson, Top Notch Client, Inc.)

“Ahead of the pack in innovation, technology and customer service.” (Davy Crocket, Architects, Inc.)

“Reed Construction Data gives me precisely the data I need, and exactly the customer service and support I want.” (Amy Hanover, Windows Plus Doors)

“I'm not sure what I'd do without the online resources that Reed offers” (Terry McNeill, National Doors and More)

We understand that data is only as good as it is relevant. So we focus on:

- developing systems that are intuitive and flexible
- building data resources specific to your needs
- providing contextual information and research
- ensuring comprehensive customer support
- delivering expert industry insights

We focus on delivering brilliance because that's what you deserve.